"Force XXI is the Army's comprehensive process for modernizing and preparing for the challenges of the 21st century. Force XXI projects our soldiers into the 21st century and provides them with the necessary doctrine and organizations, the most realistic training, and the best equipment and weapons systems that our nation can provide. The Force XXI process uses rigorous evaluations and advanced warfighting experiments to evaluate information age technology. The Army is using this process to redefine how it fights, organizes, trains, and commands.

The initial product of the Force XXI process will be Army XXI -- a versatile force with the capabilities to win the nation's wars, prevent conflict, and sustain operations."

--Togo D. West, Jr., and Dennis J. Reimer. Soldiers Are Our Credentials: America's Army -- The Force of Decision for Today, Tomorrow, and the 21st Century: A Statement on the Posture of the United States Army, Fiscal Year 1998. Posture Statement presented to the 105th Congress, 1st session. Washington: U.S. Department of the Army, February 1997, p. xii.

Preface

Prepared in response to current interest in the Force XXI process, this bibliography identifies materials explaining the nature, goals, and development of Force XXI and how it is forging the Army of the 21st century.

The items included in this bibliography are dated 1994 to the present and are available in the U.S. Army War College Library. For your convenience, we have added our call numbers at the end of each book and document entry. Please keep in mind that call numbers may vary from library to library.

This bibliography is also available on the Internet through our Library's home page (URL: <http://carlisle-www.army.mil/library/>).

Additional related bibliographies prepared by the U.S. Army War College Library include STRATEGIC VISION, dated August 1995 and REVOLUTION IN MILITARY AFFAIRS, dated May 1996. These bibliographies are also available through the Library's home page.
